

Call for Papers: Sport, Animals, & Ethics Conference

From Tuesday, May 25th through Saturday, May 29th, 2021, the Faculty of Kinesiology at the University of New Brunswick in Fredericton, New Brunswick, Canada and Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, USA will host a virtual conference on Sport, Animals, & Ethics. We are inviting papers focused on ethical issues related to the involvement of animals in the context of sport, recreation, or leisure. We welcome a wide spectrum of submissions; e.g., from direct use such as hunting animals to indirect involvement; e.g., the environmental/animal impact of golf courses.

We invite a multidisciplinary audience. Those with expertise in philosophy, ethics, environmentalism, law, sport, recreation, leisure, and other fields are encouraged to participate with the understanding that the conference theme is focused on ethics and the interplay of sports and animals. Submissions are welcome from all academics, including graduate students and freelance writers.

Due to COVID-19 the conference will be hosted online and presenters will be allotted 20-minutes to present, immediately followed by a 10-minute discussions session.

In order to participate please prepare an abstract in either .doc, .docx, or .pdf format that includes the following details and submit it to SportAnimalsAndEthics@gmail.com for consideration.

Email Subject Line: Lead author's surname: paper title
e.g., Smith: The Ethics of Recreational Fishing

Please include in the attached document:

Title: (Title)
Author(s) name(s): Surname, Given name
Institutional affiliation: (optional)
Keywords: e.g., environmentalism, snow skiing, wildlife
Abstract: 250-words or less
Key citations: 1-3 key references for the paper (any citation format)

Abstract due date: Friday, January 29th, 2021

Decision notification: Friday, February 26th, 2021

Please direct questions or inquiries to:

Gabriela Tymowski-Gionet tymowski@unb.ca
Faculty of Kinesiology
University of New Brunswick, NB Canada

OR

Sam Morris morrissp@miamioh.edu
Sport Leadership and Management
Miami University, Ohio USA